Where can I find the product descriptions for previous product versions?

This article was retrieved from support.mrcholland.com on Friday, 19th April 2024.

Product descriptions for old product versions that are not yet expired will gradually be made available on our website in the future. If available, the product descriptions can be found in the product page's download section under a version-specific subheading. Product descriptions that are not (yet) available on the product page are available upon request.

Please be aware that old product descriptions are not actively maintained and may contain inaccuracies. This can include exon numbering discrepancies if numbering was updated in a more recent version of the product description.
